Decision on the Right of Colored Children in Public Schools.

NEW YORK Sept. 13.—Judge Gilbert, of the supreme court of Brooklyn, to-day rendered a decision in the civil rights case wherein Wm F Johnson, colored, sought to compel the principal of the public school to admit his son instead of sending him to the school provided for colored children. The court holds that the common schools are a public charity, that the benefits conferred by them is a free gift from the state, and like every other gift the state may prescribe in what manner and upon what terms and conditions the gift may be enjoyed. In conclusion Judge Gilbert says: "The statute by guaranteeing equal privileges does not confer the right to enjoy them in common with any particular class of persons or in any particular school, and that nothing has been shown from which it can be inferred that the relator has been deprived of the equality of privilege to which he is entitled." The motion for mandamus is denied.

The Mississippi Troubles.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Attorney General Pierrepont this morning telegraphed the district attorney at Jackson, Miss., to inform him without delay of the present condition of affairs there. He also telegraphed Gov. Ames that he had forwarded to the President at Long Branch all telegrams in regard to the troubles, and awaited further action. It is said the President will return to Washington Tuesday or next day when a cabinet meeting will be held to consider the Mississippi troubles.

Rumors of Farther Troubles in Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. Sept. 13.—Passengers by the train from Grenada report various troubles in Tallahatchie county, Miss., some ten miles west of Grenada. The whites there had sent runners to Grenada, and citizens there and at Grenada were organizing to go there. No definite information of the nature of the troubles is received and owing to the distance from a telegraph office it is impossible to obtain reliable or detailed reports.

Particulars of the Mississippi Troubles.

MEMPHIS Sept. 13.—A gentleman who arrived from Grenada, Mississippi, this evening gives the following account of the troubles in Tallahatchie county: Last Thursday two negroes, who it is claimed live in Arkansas, registered as voters in Tallahatchie, and warrants for arrest were issued and given to a constable who took a posse with him. As they approached the place where the negroes were staying, the latter saw them and fled. They were pursued into Grahama county, by two of the posse, Evans and Buffers. It is claimed, fired at the negroes as they ran. The negroes in the vicinity of Trenton hearing of the affair, to the number of 75, proceeded to Freeman's and demanded that Evans and Bufford should be given up; their behaving in the meantime very badly. Mr Stewart, who is also deputy sheriff, asked them if they would return home he would bring Evans and Bufford, which he did not do, and it was ascertained that a large body of negroes had gathered at Trenton, and that the whites living near Freedmon sent Treasurer [illegible] and Jerry Robinson to try and induce them to [illegible], but they found them very violent and [illegible] to hang both Robinson and Stewart, [who] returned in haste and notified the citizens. The negroes were swearing vengeance against [illegible]. Calls were then made on Oakland, Charleston and Grenada for assistance, and men have gone to these points.

The Westervelt Trial.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—The trial of Wm Westervelt, charged with complicity in the abduction of Charlie Ross, was continued this morning. After the cross-examination of Mrs. Westervelt, the prisoner took the stand and testified at length as to his whereabouts before and since the abduction.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—During Westervelt's examination he emphatically denied that he rode in a [illegible] street car July 5th, with a child resembling Charlie Ross, as stated by Mrs. Peors.

Boiler Explosion and Loss of Life.

[illegible], N. Y., Sept. 13.—A boiler in the sawmill of [illegible] Prost, in Skaneateles, Onondaga county, exploded this morning, killing A. P. Chatham and a son of John Prince, and fatally injuring an unknown person.

Wrecking of a Steam Barge and Loss of Thirteen Persons.

CHICAGO Sept. 13.—The propeller Depere arrived at Milwaukee yesterday, and the officers of her give a brief report of the foundering of the steam barge Mendota. The Mendota with the barge Morn[illegible] was sailing along the west shore of Lake Michigan on Thursday night, and at a point nearly off Point Betsey she foundered and was soon lost. The crew and passengers numbered twenty-five in all. The life boat was launched and [illegible] of the persons on board the ill fated steamer [illegible] and the remaining 13 went down with the boat. The lifeboat reached Manitowoc. The propeller Tracy being at Manitowoc [illegible] barge in tow, reaching Milwaukee last night. Particulars of the disaster are given. The captain's name or the owners' names are not mentioned, and it is not known where she belongs. She had a cargo of coal and was bound upwards. [illegible] of the owners of the boat was on board with [illegible], and he managed to get into the life boat [illegible] failing to do so, and he jumped back [illegible] and was drowned with his [illegible].

The Last of the Crew.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Reuben Burr was brought to port this afternoon by the schooner Havana—having been picked up after floating fifteen hours on the pilot-house of the wrecked vessel Equinox. He was helmsman of that vessel, and supposed to be the sole survivor of the crew. He was picked up eighty miles S S W of [illegible] last Saturday. He stated substantially the following facts: The sea was very rough all day before the catastrophe. The vessel sprung a leak while he was at the wheel at 1 A. M. Friday. An inspection showed the bulwarks stove in and the crew attempted to stop the leak but it was impossible, and after consultation it was decided to lower boats. A schooner was hailed and sent to come alongside, but probably did not see and was at all events unmanageable. Signals were given and lights displayed but without avail. A boat was lowered on the port side and the [illegible] watchman, five deck hands and two firemen got in. The ship went down immediately. Burr swam for a long while side by side with the captain. They finally [illegible] spars and separated. Afterwards Burr reached the pilot house and occupied that with the cook. The latter however after nearly a day was unable to stand up, became unnerved and slipped off. Burr was taken up by the Havana, much exhausted, on Saturday morning.

[illegible], Sept. 13.—Seven passengers belonging to the Equinox, who were picked up by the schooner [illegible], arrived here to-day. One of the [illegible] says the captain took to his boat and left his aged father to perish. The steward stood by his wife and went down with her. The story is told by another member of the crew who [illegible] in high terms of the conduct of the captain and other officers. The Mendota was valued at $40 [illegible]. Her cargo of coal was burned.

Counterfeiters Arrested.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. Sept. 13.—The Courier Journal's special says that five more counterfeiters were brought to Decatur. The band was up in [illegible], extending through Missouri, Kentucky, Mississippi, Texas and back through to St. Louis. The band have a regular constitution and by laws, and are composed of prominent men in the states mentioned. [illegible] of the National Bank of Illinois and Traders Bank of Chicago, also 50 and 100 United States treasury notes and 50 cent notes was mostly circulated in Tennessee among the poorer classes and farmers. It is estimated $100,000 had been distributed. A basket was captured with the men arrested. Some had in the seams of their clothes and hats a device so it could be hidden. Detectives have been on the case up six months.

Another Failure.

NEW YORK Sept. 13.—Messrs. Mallory & Butler of Broadway, the largest dealers in paper in America, representing some fifty different [illegible], announced their suspension to-day. They have been in difficulties for some days. The failure is due to the contraction of values and to the fact that they have been keeping a stock on hand in the present insecurity of the trade. They have sought to deal as far as [illegible] cash but have found it impracticable. The creditors have agreed to allow the firm to continue business as usual without an assignee or receiver.

Violent Storms in Vermont—Nine Persons Killed and 60 Missing.

MONTPELIER Vt. Sept. 13.—Violent storms have occurred in this neighborhood and great damage has been done to crops. A water spout destroyed fifty houses at St. Chinian. Nine dead bodies have been recovered and sixty persons are still missing.

City Election at Portsmouth, N. H.

PORTSMOUTH N. H. Sept. 13.—The Democrats elected Moses H. Goodrich mayor of this city to-day by about a hundred majority and six of the ten aldermen.

Maine Election.

PORTLAND Sept. 13.—Portland gives Connor (Republican) 2,416, Roberts (Democrat) 2,531. Democratic majority 115 against last year's Republican majority of 163. Twenty towns give Connor 5,093 and Roberts 4,609, forty towns give Connor 12,130 and Roberts 11,381. Last year the same towns gave a Republican vote of 10,281 and a Democratic vote of 8,7[illegible], showing a Republican majority of 1[illegible] in 187[illegible] against 2,195 in 1874. Sixty towns give Connor 1[illegible] and Roberts 14,789. Last year the Republican vote was 13,3[illegible] and the Democratic vote 10,985.

Yellow Fever Smuggled into New York Harbor.

NEW YORK Sept. 13.—A vessel from South America anchored in East river with the yellow fever on board. The captain passed quarantine without making a report, and was arrested for violation of the quarantine code and remanded to jail for examination to-morrow.

NEW YORK Sept. 13.—Gold closed 16¼@⅜; money, 1½@2; governments steady; stocks active and lower. Western Union 79; Quicksilver 1[illegible]; Pacific Mail 37¼; Wells Fargo [illegible]; N Y Central 104⅞; Erie 17; Panama, 1[illegible]; Union Pacific 25¼; do bonds 103⅝; Central Pacific 101[illegible].

The N. Y. Express on the San Francisco Meeting.

NEW YORK Sept. 13.—The Evening Express says J W Simonton as the agent of the Associated Press, who is assailed with having no regard for common sense or fairness for the upshot of matters in California, vindicates his agency and the two journals in which he has interest in California and himself completely from the attacks of his enemies. He shows that they originated with enemies of the press and with men of worthless character, and moreover defies any of his assailants to make good a single charge against the press agent in California or himself here. We have already expressed our views of the Ralston failure and fail to see wherein any injustice has been done to his memory by any press of the country except that class which would make his inexcusable speculations and untimely death the occasion of assaults upon living men. It is so much the fashion of the day to pitch in against everybody and everything that nothing now but sober second thought can make either the past clear or the present comprehensive. Judging by the past the worst enemies of Ralston are that class of defenders who assail men and judges who seek the public good while they are careful not to attack those who are assailable. Mr Ralston was generous and public spirited almost beyond example but he was not a wise counselor and none ought now to be more ready to admit this than his best friends.

In Memory of Ralston.

NEW YORK Sept. 13.—About forty members of the Associated Pioneers of California met this evening to give expression of the feeling of the society for the misfortunes which overtook the late Wm C Ralston. Resolutions were adopted declaring that the sympathies of the association are in entire accord with those of the citizens of San Francisco who have recently borne such emphatic testimony to the character of the man and paid such warm-hearted tributes to his memory, and extending the tenderest sympathy to the bereaved family.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Conviction of one of the Whisky Ring.

CHICAGO Sept. 13.—A Washington special says the treasury department has obtained its first conviction under the whisky ring prosecutions. It was the case of a distiller at St Joseph Mo whose place was seized with other St. Louis seizures. The distiller pleaded guilty yesterday. The evidence is nearly the same as in all the other cases. Active efforts are making to crush the California ring.

The Red Cloud Investigation.

WASHINGTON Sept. 13.—The Red Cloud commission expect to finish their examination of witnesses here the present week. Mr Samuel Walker will continue his examination this evening. Professor Marsh and Commissioner Smith were at the commission's rooms to-day. The latter was to make a statement occupying less than an hour. Professor Marsh desires the personal attendance of several more witnesses, among them Mr Bevier, now in Michigan, who was telegraphed for this forenoon. He has sent a statement but Professor Marsh desires him to be interrogated. No more witnesses are to be examined besides those already summoned unless their names be furnished to-day. Mr Bosler, beef contractor, was examined as to the purchase and delivery of cattle by him under the Freeman contract for the year ending 30th of June last. The whole number of cattle purchased was [illegible], the number delivered at Red Cloud, Spotted Tail and other agencies 28,608—the difference having been lost by stampedes, theft of Indians &c. For cattle delivered government paid $709,850; cost of cattle with expense of delivery was $5[illegible]8,[illegible]10, and deducting interest on account and incidental expenses there was net profit to contractor of $110,000. With regard to contract for flour every head of cattle receipted for was delivered.

Mr Bosler was questioned in regard to the weight of cattle delivered, manner of keeping cattle through the winter etc. He sometimes bid rather high for beef contracts because he had but few competitors. There are few competitors because it takes large capital to fulfill contracts. He always paid cash on delivery. He never paid any money to prevent others from bidding and never heard of the lowest bidder being bought off.

Dr Cox of this city, who was one of the special commission appointed in 1874 to negotiate with the Sioux Indians relative to the surrender of their hunting privileges in Nebraska, testified that soon after his return Secretary Delano wrote him asking if he had seen anything wrong in the agencies, and he replied he had not. He asked if he might give his impression of what he saw in the Indian country, and permission being given he said he never heard an Indian complain of the quality of the articles furnished. There was great complaint in council and no Indian could speak without arraigning the great father for violating treaties etc. Indians were chronic grumblers and in his opinion a little less indulgence and a little more authority by government would be better both for the Indians and the government.

Resolutions on the Death of Hon H. T. Blow.

The District Commissioners to-day adopted the following: The Commissioners of the District of Columbia have heard with deep regret of the death of Hon Henry T Blow who was a member of the commission as originally constituted and faithfully discharged his duties of commissioner until he resigned. His colleagues and successor unite in expression of their profound respect for his memory and their sincere sympathy with his family in their great and irreparable loss. He was highly intelligent, enterprising and patriotic and faithfully performed every private and public trust committed to his hands.

Telegraph Line may be Built across Umatilla Reservation.

WASHINGTON Sept. 13.—The Umatilla Indian agent being in doubt has inquired of Commissioner Smith as to his power to permit the Nevada and Northern Telegraph Company to build their line across the reservation on the Meacham creek road. The commissioner has notified him there is no objection whatever to the building of the line on the reservation.

The London Markets

NEW YORK Sept. 13.—A London dispatch says that at the opening of business the dealings in the general markets were characterized by dullness as is usually the case after the stock exchange has been closed for two days in succession. Such quotations as have been established are as a rule in favor of the short interest though no very marked changes are noted in U. S. government bonds.

The Weather and the Crops

LONDON Sept. 13.—The weather is fair and favorable for gathering the hop crop and bringing grain into fine condition. In Mark Lane English wheat is two shillings per quarter lower than last Monday and foreign one to three shillings lower according to samples. Flour is very dull, irregular and lower.

The Grain Markets of Europe.

LONDON Sept. 13.—The Mark Lane Express in review of the corn trade for the past week has the following:

There has been but little change in markets generally, which were [illegible] moderately supplied, the best quality mostly maintaining its previous value while inferior has [illegible] downwards. The [illegible] of this year [illegible] were double [illegible] but foreign imports will be free; the country has been amply supplied at rather lower rates.

Flour has recovered a franc in Paris. [illegible] wheat has risen one shilling per quarter. The French markets have generally been calm [illegible] changed, but in some country places there has been a decline.

Belgium and Holland have given way in new qualities about a shilling per quarter.

In Germany the tendency from the fineness of the weather has been downward. The same is true in Hungary for inferior qualities though the yield is scarcely an average.

At Odessa holders maintain prices greatly to the detriment of the export trade, in the confidence that they will eventually be paid for their patience as the season advances and the general deficiency is known. Still looking at the present yield as only an average one in quantity, and as from this large deduction must be made for general lightness in the actual amount of flour introduced, we may possibly count a further deficiency of 30,000 qrs at a time when our population is vastly on the increase. We have no doubt imports will meet our necessities but we expect, as the season terminates, it will be a close run.

The Turkish Rebellion

A special from Vienna says the Servian ministry have issued a circular to the chiefs of several districts saying: "We are on the best terms with the Porte. We therefore order that you prevent the [illegible], understanding from being disturbed, either by permitting volunteers to join the insurgents or by export of arms, ammunition or provisions."

The Servian Skuptschina.

KRAGUJEVATZ Sept. 1[illegible].—The Skuptschina elected committees of war, finance and constitution. The members of these committees are mostly radicals and include three communists. The great powers have expressed to Servia their satisfaction with the tone of Prince Milan's speech. The address will probably be debated in the Skuptschina on the 17th.

LONDON Sept. 14.—A special to the Morning Standard says the Prince of Montenegro in replying on Saturday to the deputation which urged a declaration of war declared his decision would depend on the attitude of the Servian Skuptschina.

Preparing for War.

BELGRADE Sept. 1[illegible].—On account of the threatening concentration of Turkish troops on the frontier the Servian government has ordered the mobilization of six frontier brigades aggregating 1[illegible],000 men. Each soldier is supplied with 100 rounds of ammunition.

The Turks Defeated.

CONSTANTINOPLE Sept. 1[illegible].—Serious fighting occurred on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday last in which the Turks were defeated. This has resulted in a renewal of the siege of Trebigne by the insurgents.

Miners Suffocated by Gas.

LONDON Sept. 13.—Eleven persons perished on Saturday from gas in Downington Wood colliery, Shropshire.

Heavy Gale on the Mediterranean Coast—Adjacent Lowlands Flooded.

PARIS Sept. 13.—The gale yesterday on the Mediterranean coast flooded the Cette railway station and traffic is interrupted between there and Beziers, and other parts of France were similarly visited. On Saturday and Monday several rivers in the south of France overflowed and the plains of Vignables between Beziers and Marbonne and Olues are covered with water and many houses destroyed.

Specie Shipments to New York.

LONDON Sept. 13.—Gold to the amount of £97,000 was withdrawn from the bank to-day for New York.

Cattle Disease.

There are 6,000 cases of cattle disease in Devonshire, an increase of 1,000 during the past week.

Narrow Escape of a Steamer from Foundering.

It is reported that the steamer State of Virginia which arrived at Lorne to-day sprung a leak off Cape Race and at one time it was feared she would founder, but the leak was finally stopped.

LONDON Sept. 14.—Further reports of the accident to the steamer State of Virginia say that the leak was discovered when the steamer was 100 miles east of Cape Race. There was 11 feet of water in the hold before the position of the leak could be ascertained. Water tight compartments saved the vessel.

Spanish Affairs.

MADRID Sept. 13.—General Jovellar, the new premier, has repeatedly stated that Spain's most urgent need is the end of civil war. The question of the new constitution should be left to the cortes, and the efforts of the ministry at present will be directed to the pacification of the kingdom.

French Affairs.

LONDON Sept. 13.—A special from Paris to the Daily News reports that the constitutional party in France have resolved to force M Buffet to break openly with Bonapartists at the next meeting of the permanent committee, or to convene the Assembly before the appointed time.

Failure.

LONDON Sept. 13.—John H Watt, a merchant of Glasgow, has failed. Liabilities estimated at £[illegible]0,000.

CANADA

Railway Collision.

NEW HAMBURG Sept. 13.—Two freight trains this morning collided. An engineer and fireman were killed and a brakeman had a leg broken. An engine and tender were wrecked and several cars burned.

A Rumor Contradicted.

QUEBEC Sept. 13.—There is no truth in the rumored loss of the government steamer Napoleon.

Another Suspension.

MONTREAL Sept. 13.—Harlow & Chandler, grocers, St Paul street, suspended to-day. Liabilities $200,000.

Teller Absconded.

Nichol, teller of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, absconded Saturday, taking over $[illegible]0,000.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Meeting of Pacific Stock Exchange

SAN FRANCISCO Sept. 13.—The Pacific Stock Exchange held a business meeting to-day. Resolutions were offered providing that the resolution formerly passed fining members for doing business be rescinded; that all old business of the exchange referring to loans and stock transactions be settled within five days; that the exchange resume business to-morrow, and until further action hold one session each day for the transaction of cash and regular business only, from 11 A. M. to 12:30 P. M., and that there be a fine on each member not answering to roll call at 11 A. M. A substitute was offered providing that the exchange through its special committee confer with the executive committee of the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board to the end that both board and exchange be opened at the same time. The substitute was adopted. The original motion was then taken from the table and lost, and thus matters stand.

Greenbacks 8[illegible] buying, 9[illegible] selling.

Collection Day

Collection day is passing off smoothly. Nobody is pinched and in most cases payments are made on demand. The mercantile community is standing the test better even than expected.

The Case of Fratricide—Coroner's Inquest—The Youthful Murderer Shows Symptoms of Insanity

SAN FRANCISCO Sept. 13.—An inquest was held this morning on the body of Geo Bittenbender, shot by his brother Edward Saturday evening. The evidence showed that the act was deliberate murder without provocation, Edward lying in wait for his brother and shooting him as he passed the doorway. The jury found a verdict in accordance with the facts. The examination of the murderer will take place to-morrow. It is ascertained that his father committed suicide and that his mother is now insane, and since the tragedy young Bittenbender has shown symptoms of aberration of mind.

Collection Day Passes without Stoppages

SAN FRANCISCO Sept. 13.—Collection day has passed with no stoppages. Bills generally have been paid better than was expected, owing to large amounts passed over at last collection.

Action of the Stock Boards

The action of the Pacific Stock Exchange in refusing to reopen business at present meets with general commendation, though in the opinion of some the renewal of business on the part of both boards is expedient. The transactions of the California Board can hardly be considered as affording a criterion of the state of the stock market, as a few hundred shares of any leading stock thrown into the board would probably demoralize it. The general impression seems to be that the transactions of the California Board are rather injurious than otherwise, tending to cause an unsettled feeling, while if no business were done the rates at the closing of the big boards would be considered still ruling. As it is, prices of most of the leading stocks have somewhat fallen off.

Bank of California will Delay Opening

SAN FRANCISCO Sept. 13.—It seems probable now that the reopening of the Bank of California will be delayed beyond the 1st proximo, probably until the reopening of the Bank of Nevada about the 1st proximo.

J. J. Baldwin was to-day unanimously elected director of the Bank of California to fill a vacancy. In consideration of the fact that Baldwin is one of the largest creditors of the bank, his election is considered significant of the favorable progress of the efforts of the syndicate toward resumption.

AN OLD LADY'S SPEECH

This is a season of anniversaries, and the local and little ones are as interesting in their way as the national and great ones. The Mad River Pioneers held an annual meeting near Fremont, Ohio, on the 21st of August and talked over the days of the log cabin, of which edifice a miniature model was exhibited. There was also a great display of other ancient objects—iron spectacles, flax hackles, old homespun linen table cloths, iron thimbles, a peculiar pocket book formerly the property of a Quaker, pewter plates, a carving knife and fork used at the dinner to which the signers of the Declaration of Independence sat down after the names had been duly affixed to that instrument—sat down with good appetites we hope. There was also the very inkstand into which the illustrious signers dipped their pens. The genuine character of these articles was vouched for, and they will doubtless next year find their way to Philadelphia. But the living antiquities were the most interesting. There was John Idle (curious misnomer) age 95 years and the first shinglemaker in that part of the country; there was Mr Rector, who in his boyhood used to see ten Indians to one white man; and above all there was the old lady, Mrs Fanny Thompson, 92, who made a speech, and an exceedingly good speech it must have been. She too had experience with the Indians. She talked of the time when Tommy Robinson married Peggy Storms and all the country far and near, without distinction, was invited. She brought with her and exhibited specimens of some store goods of her early days—blue and white checked calico which cost 75 cents a yard—and it didn't then take 15 yards to make a dress; she said "six yards were sufficient." She had with her also samples of calico which cost $1 per yard.

So she prattled on in her pleasant way, but her own presence must have been the most entertaining and instructive of speeches. It told of a life of patience, persistence and simplicity of purpose. It told the old story, which can never be too often repeated, of large results from small beginnings. These honest people who settled on Mad river, who subdued the forests, who survived hard seasons and Indian wars and all manner of discouragements, scarcely stopped to think that they were laying broad and deep the foundations of a magnificent commonwealth. Their quiet achievement reminds us of the wisdom of Goethe:

> Know'st thou yesterday, its aim and reason?
> Work'st thou well to-day for worthy ends?
> Then calmly trust the future's hidden season,
> Then calmly wait what fate soe'er impends.—

It is with peoples as with persons—the notable result comes from unnoted daily doing. All the hope builders have builded better than they knew. "It is true," said the great Revolutionary orator, "that in the beginning we aimed not at independence," and we can now easily see that it would have been a misfortune if they had. Great failures come either from original vice of purpose or from prematurity in pushing what is inherently virtuous.

When the monsoon of oratory centennial and patriotic next year begins, much will be said of the day of small things; only we shall talk of them after a grandiloquent fashion, as if the actors in them worked according to a gigantic plan. Yet it was all in a nut shell. The revolutionary patriots did not boast of a coming empire, of a population to be counted by many millions, of a high place among the nations—they simply said "No tax on tea, no taxation without representation! no stamp act!" So the Pilgrims Fathers sought a place in which they might pray after their own fashion without being sent to prison for doing so, and hence Massachusetts. This old Ohio lady saving, spinning, doing the daily farmwork, raising children—what dream had she of the Ohio of to-day? The lesson so replete with all the encouragement which reasonable hope can give us is too obvious to need pointing out. "Work to-day for worthy ends!" That is all.—N. Y. Tribune.

MRS ABRAHAM LINCOLN

WHAT HER PASTOR PROF. SWING SAYS ABOUT HER INSANITY

The following from the Alliance, evidently inspired by Prof. Swing, who was Mrs Lincoln's pastor, deserves attention:

The daily papers have, to say the least, awakened a large amount of inquiry regarding the lawfulness and humanity of Mrs Lincoln's imprisonment. Many who read the evidences of her sanity, as brought forward by parties so high in character as Judge Bradwell, are ready now to declare that the durance at Batavia was the result of fear and suspicion on the part of the son about property. There is room in this matter for an immense amount of injustice to be done Robert Lincoln, and we hope the public will decline accepting the opportunity. Mrs Lincoln was sent to Batavia by a group of the best friends she has in the world, and a group of men who would not permit any wrong to be done the widow of the great president. Leonard Swett and I. N. Arnold are not the gentlemen to be participators in a plot that would wrongly deprive a valued friend of liberty.

The case seems to our view about as follows: Mrs Lincoln's mind is liable to spells of sinking and rising. For weeks it seems different from ordinary in being better than the average brain. She is witty, sharp and playful, and has no more business behind the bars than we all have who are allowed the freedom of the city. But it is also true that times do come when a strong arm should be near her by day and night to stand guard until the intellectual tide should rise again. There may be a few days or weeks in a year when her present home in Batavia would be the best possible place for her, but the rights to liberty and to be treated as a sane human being are so immense and so tender that release should come the moment the mind straightens up again. Mrs Lincoln's condition last spring was wholly new and we think only temporary. The weakness of the mind revealing itself at times up to that date had such a shape that one could not well call it madness. If she kept her window open that angels might come in, and that heaven might send her at times a whiff of its rare perfumes, this only indicates some harmless hallucination, and would suggest the idea of taking the iron bars also off her windows so that the angels can come in if they so desire. No doubt upon the return of her son he will have the devoted mother removed to the house of some friend. He loves her more than the public does and will do what is right as rapidly as the right shall make itself manifest.

WHAT TILTON IS DOING

People frequently ask us in person or by letter what Mr Tilton is doing. Not having seen him for a long time and being sadly deficient in the faculty of evolving information from our interior consciousness, we assailed that gentleman with an impertinent interrogation, to which he returned the following characteristic reply, which though marked private we give for the benefit of those whom it may concern:

174 LIVINGSTON STREET Aug. 22 1875.

Dear Mr. Clarke: You ask how I spend my time. The items are these—each [illegible] his story repeating itself: 1. Out of bed at 6 o'clock in the morning—the workingman's hour. 2. A cup of coffee and a crust of bread—nothing more. 3. Feed my sparrows at the window sill of my study—those tamest gamins of the street, who flock to my window not suspecting that I'm a dangerous character. 4. Five solid hours at my writing desk—a fair day's work for the brain. 5. Breakfast at noon. 6. In the afternoon, according as the weather or the vane of humor points, I go somewhere with Florence or take a long walk myself, or rummage among books or receive friends. 7. These summer evenings are generally softened and melted away by Florence and her piano—and I listen and weep and thank God for my daughter. 8. The odd moments are put to use in picking up the threads of old studies where I threw them down a year ago. You who know the interruption incidental to a newspaper office will envy me my morning solitude, into which no intruder dares to break—except (just at present) a little kitten that climbs up to the work table and curls herself asleep round my inkstand. Hastily yours,

THEODORE TILTON

HERZEGOVINA

THE CAUSES WHICH HAVE BROUGHT ABOUT THE INSURRECTION

[From the London Times.]

It is in the highest degree improbable that the insurgents in the Herzegovina will be able to throw off the rule of the Turks, for it has now become clear that they stand alone. But on the other hand the Porte does not find the task of putting down the revolt so easy as it professed to do in the soothing messages which it sent to all the capitals of Europe, and it would be idle to hide the truth that the insurrection is one of the symptoms of a disease which the most hopeful as well as the most skillful of political physicians are coming to regard as incurable. At first we were told the rebellion was a mere riot which had sprung from a petty quarrel between peasants and some tax collectors of the sultan. Led on by agitators, a couple of hundred foolish people, it was said, had crossed the Montenegrin frontier in the hope of getting aid from their warlike neighbors, but they had been disappointed, and the sight of the Turkish troops would make them only too glad to crave for mercy. When the truth became too well known to be hidden by such a tale, and when the success of the rebels had been exaggerated, the Turkish government took the pains to give its embassies an official explanation for

THE ENLIGHTENMENT OF WESTERN EUROPE

It admitted that there had been some skirmishes, but it added that the troops of the sultan had been everywhere successful, and that their bishops had advised their misguided people to lay down their arms. Lest Christian readers should fear that the revolt would be punished with Ottoman ferocity, the imperial authorities expressed a hope that they would be able to put down at least a part of the revolt without bloodshed. They added that they had proclaimed a general amnesty, but that "the recalcitrants would be punished." The real truth, however, is somewhat different. The people have revolted because the Turks are what they are and what they must remain. Nearly three fourths of the inhabitants are Christians belonging either to the Roman Catholic or the Greek church. They despise and they detest their Mussulman rulers with a fanaticism which it is difficult for the calmer Christianity of the West even to measure. More prosaic causes of hostility are found in the system of pillage which is legalized under the name of taxation. The collectors are so hopelessly corrupt that no rigor on the part of the central government would suffice to keep them within the bounds of honesty. They plunder because the necessities of the state demand a larger revenue than the people can afford, and because they must look for their own rewards in what may be mildly called irregular gains. Every descent of the tithe-gatherers, therefore

DEEPENS THE HATRED

With which the Christian population regard their rulers, and at last some new act of rapacity has prompted the sufferers to take up arms. The Turks must govern their Christian subjects by the sword or not at all. They could not afford to be merciful. But the sharp and clear ferocity of Dervish Pasha's words is an instructive commentary both on the light way in which the officials of the Porte at first affected to treat the insurrection, and on the Christian mildness with which they afterward promised to chastise their erring brethren. The first hope of the rebels was that they should be joined by the Montenegrins. These fierce mountaineers are ever ready to spring at Turkey. They hate it because they are Christians, because it has often tried to crush them, and likewise because they are inspired by a passionate love for independence. Their ruler, however, exercises an astonishing moral influence over his subjects. He sees that his little state must profit by commerce rather than by war, and by the favor of Austria rather than by an attack on Turkey. Its wealth would immensely gain if it had an opening to the Adriatic, from which it is separated by a narrow strip of Austrian territory. But Austria will not give the prince a port, and, indeed, she subjects the exports of his subjects to crushing duties. Hence Montenegro turns for aid to Russia, and the prince himself is a pensioner of the Czar. But this very fact makes Austria all the more unwilling to give any piece of her Dalmatian seaboard to the Montenegrins, because she fears that it would

FALL INTO THE HANDS OF RUSSIA

The prince would quickly let loose his mountaineers at a signal from St Petersburg, and the flame of rebellion might thus spread far and wide, but Prince Gortchakoff is too cautious to precipitate in the present state of Europe what all Russians believe to be the inevitable destruction of the Turkish power, and besides the three emperors have agreed to keep the peace for the sake of their common interests. The Prince of Montenegro dares not declare war against Turkey without the authority of Russia, and from him therefore the people of the Herzegovina have nothing to expect. But his own subjects may be less politic than himself, and it remains to be seen whether he can restrain them if the insurrection should last for some months longer. Meanwhile the leaders of the insurgents have turned their eyes to Servia, which would gladly put an end to its connection with Turkey. Prince Milan would be happy to become the tributary of Christian Austria instead of the Porte, and there cannot be a doubt that he went to Vienna for the purpose of making such an offer. If backed by Austria the Servians would quickly aid the insurgents. But no power dares let loose forces which might lead to the greatest war of this generation. Austria has a peculiarly good reason for desiring peace in the fact that even if a general war were to be averted, and the discontented provinces of the Porte joined to her own, she would have added new elements of discord to her warring races. The friends of the insurgents urge the necessity of

PROLONGED RESISTANCE

Rather than of impetuous attacks. They think that the people of Servia and Montenegro would be driven beyond the bounds of restraint if the insurrection were to last for months, and that these mutinous nationalities would drag the great Christian states into the conflict. We cannot share their wishes. Although the Turkish rule is detestable the time has not yet come for throwing it off. Neither Austria nor Russia is ready to face the tremendous responsibility of a war which might in the long run involve the very existence of the Ottoman authority. As for this country, it cannot take any steps in advance. It has as much sympathy as any power with the Christians who feel the weight of Moslem rapacity, and the momentary hope that the Turk would repent and live cleanly has long since been discredited. But the value of peace in the east of Europe is immeasurably greater at the present time than the welfare of the Herzegovina. It must wait. We say so in no spirit of cynicism, but in a temper of pitying veracity. Lamentable as the oppression of the Turkish Christians may be, it would be still worse to hazard a war which might involve the very existence of the Ottoman Empire, and hence the certainty of more than a mere disagreement between the chief States of Europe. The insurgents would do well therefore to lay down their arms and trust even to the Turks, tempered as their severities will be by the interference of the Christian States. We do not pretend to believe that their submission will bring peace. Peace is impossible in Turkey. There will, of course, be other revolts of the same kind, and what the result will be it would be idle to say. Meanwhile the rule of the Porte is a necessity, not because it is good or even tolerable, but because it is the only thing that stands between the East and chaos.

FARMING ITEMS

Wheat is quoted at Roseburg at 85 cents per bushel.

Buena Vista warehouses have a capacity of 125,000 bushels of grain.

Douglas county farmers are nearly done harvesting and report splendid crops of grain, but flax is not turning out so well.

A large amount of grain will be stored in Jefferson this season—a large number of farmers in the forks preferring to take advantage of river transportation rather than be at the mercy of the railroad.

W. P. Watson of Hood river proposes to be one of 150 who will give $100 each to build a new pavilion on the State fair-grounds, if it be done this year, or one of 200 to give the same amount each if the building be erected next year.

The farmers warehouse at Jefferson is fast approaching completion, and it is thought that during this week the farmers will commence storing wheat in it. The capacity of the warehouse is about 100,000 bushels of grain. The warehouse of Messrs Corbitt & Macleay, at the same place, is ready to receive grain. This warehouse will have a capacity of 75,000 bushels.

The Farmer says there is a great deal of land in this valley that has of late grown up to oak grubs and hazel and is considered of little value. We have a report from Mr Delos Jefferson, who lives four miles from Salem northeast, that goes to show that it will pay well to clear such land to sow in wheat. He employed Chinese labor early last spring and cleared seven acres at a cost of $22.50 per acre, which he thoroughly plowed twice and then sowed in wheat, which has lately been harvested and yielded from thirty eight to forty bushels per acre.

THE GUIBORD CASE

Our dispatches for about a week past have furnished accounts of the unfortunate troubles in Montreal over the burial of Joseph Guibord, and the latest advices indicate that there is a prospect of the controversy involving other portions of the Dominion in riot and bloodshed. As it is some time since the matter has been brought prominently before the public, a brief resume of the facts connected with the case will be interesting. Guibord, who died in November 1869, had been the owner of a lot in the Catholic cemetery, but the Institute Canadien, of which he was a member, had been denounced by the bishop of Montreal for refusing to remove certain objectionable books from its library. When Guibord died his body was refused burial in the Catholic cemetery, and his widow applied to the courts for relief. The Canadian courts decided variously, each party when beaten appealing to a higher tribunal. In the meantime Madame Guibord died, leaving all her property to the institute. That association carried the case to the Privy Council of England, and has finally obtained a decree ordering the burial of the body in the cemetery, and also judgment against the church authorities and in favor of the institute for all costs incurred by the widow in the lower courts, which amount to a very large sum. Whether these costs have been paid is not stated. But the first attempt to inter the remains on the 2d instant was, as our readers will remember, prevented by force, a large crowd of French Canadians having assembled for that purpose. Another attempt will be made on the 17th, and will probably be successful, as a large body of troops will be on hand to protect the funeral cortege. The feeling in the city among French Catholics, who form a majority of the population, has been wrought up to such a height, however, that there is little hope of the remains being allowed to rest in peace even after burial. It is an affair greatly to be deplored, and there is no telling where it will end.

Over 400 Navajoes are off their reservation, and are in Southern Utah listening to the counsel of the Mountain Meadow priests. They want to know "when Mormonish fight Merikat—heap fight!"

The lawyers of Salt Lake are all busy inquiring who is to be the next chief justice. The president says he will appoint no one living in Utah. Meantime one term of court has lapsed for want of a judge to preside.

The Tucson (Arizona) papers say that on Sunday last Tebaum presented the scenes of early days in a California trading or mining camp, the business houses being crowded in the morning and horse-racing and fighting in the afternoon.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 14, 1875.

THE JOURNAL'S LAST ATTACK ON WARREN.

The Evening Journal has concluded that, in order to prevent the people of Oregon who are more desirous to be represented in Congress by an honest and respectable man than by a skillful party politician, from voting for Henry Warren, it is necessary to trump up some charge against his personal character. To this end it has been collecting facts from the day of his birth down to the present time, with as much industry and particularity as if it were employed to write his biography, and has made, or pretended to make, the discovery that he was a member of the Know-nothing organization, and took some horrible oaths prescribed by that party. We have no means of knowing whether the statement of the Journal in this regard is true or not, as we were never in a Know-nothing lodge, and, the organization being secret, only those who were inside were supposed to know either its members or its oaths. For the present, therefore, and until better informed, we defer to the superior knowledge of the editor of the Journal, remarking only that if we have been correctly advised by those who pretend to possess a knowledge of what they say, it would thin out the Democracy very considerably if all the Democrats (besides the editor of the Journal) who were regular members of the Know-nothing order were to leave the Democratic fold.

But the Journal's researches have been rewarded further with the unearthing of the facts contained in the following extract:

> In the year 1840 he emigrated to New York, and from New York he went to Missouri, where he resided four years. During the year 1846 or 1847 he came to this state, and shortly thereafter settled in Yamhill county. About this time—still as a British subject—he was appointed deputy sheriff, and continued until the sheriff giving him the appointment resigned on account of ill health, when Warren became a candidate himself. In the meantime congress had passed what was known as the Donation Land Claim Act, and in order to take advantage of its provisions, Warren forswore his allegiance to the British crown and became an American citizen.

There is nothing in this paragraph which deserves special attention, except the very last remark, namely, that Warren, "in order to take advantage" of the Donation Law, "forswore his allegiance to the British crown." This is the point the Journal makes, and that paper is welcome to all it can get out of it. It has never before, that we are aware of, been considered a crime for a person of foreign birth to comply with the naturalization laws of the United States, and this is the first time we have seen the act characterized as a dishonorable act. Other naturalized citizens, and especially those who have taken land under the Donation Law, have presented them in this extract the opinion of the Democratic leaders, as expressed by their mouthpiece, of the foreign citizen. If a man not born in the United States, but attached to our system of government and identified with it in all respects, takes the oath required by the naturalization laws, he is set down by the Democratic oracle as forsworn. The public can see in this the sort of opposition that is made to Warren, and naturalized citizens can see the Journal's real feelings toward them. If Warren twenty years ago was such a proscriptive know-nothing as the Journal man proclaims himself to be at this time, he certainly should be required to show fruits meet for repentance.

THE REVOLT IN EUROPEAN TURKEY.

European Turkey is in a ferment that promises to be worse before it is better. From the meagre telegrams concerning the troubles there, one can obtain little information beyond the bare fact that Herzegovina, Servia and Bosnia are in revolt, and that Turkey is making a rather feeble effort for their subjugation. Put thus, there is nothing in the struggle to excite sympathy, nor even to enable one to form an opinion as to whether there is sufficient reason for the insurrection or not. But through trans-atlantic newspapers and correspondents a more intelligent idea of the situation and its causes can be obtained. The trouble is not the result of temporary dissatisfaction among the people at burdensome taxation, as it appears on the surface. It is really the breaking out of long suppressed hostility of the people toward the Turkish government, founded in the deepest and strongest sentiment of the human heart. Ostensibly it is an endeavor of the people to relieve themselves of oppressive taxation, but really it is a religious insurrection. The Christian and the Mohammedan are again in open warfare. Western Turkey, that is, Turkey in Europe, contains a population of about 15,000,000 souls, of whom more than 11,000,000 are Christians, and less than 4,000,000 Mohammedans; and these 11,000,000 are to all practical purposes disfranchised and the 4,000,000 Moslems rule them with a rod of iron. Between the Moslem rulers and the Christian subjects there is naturally the bitterest animosity. But the Christians know how useless would be any effort of theirs to induce the Sultan or the Porte to recognize their natural right to equality before the law, and they therefore make no formal demand of that kind. Like the American colonies who took up arms to resist an imposition of three pence a pound on tea and a trifling stamp duty, but would not lay them down till the mother country had acknowledged them as sovereign States, these Christian principalities of Turkey have taken arms against taxation, but when the western powers offer them kind offices to mediate a peace which will remove the grievance complained of they reject the offer, replying, in substance, that they are resolved to accept nothing short of absolute independence. That they mean to fight it out to the bitter end, if necessary, and to stand or fall by the issue is evident in the fact that nearly 150,000 of their women and children have been sent across the Austrian line for safety, while the husbands and fathers go forth to smite the Moslem hosts.

The measure of the success of this struggle depends more upon the disposition of the Christian powers than upon the ability of the Turkish empire to suppress the revolt; for unless the Christian nations shall directly, or indirectly, strengthen the hands of Turkey, there is no doubt of the ability of the revolted communities to gain and maintain their independence. Turkey has long been known as "The Sick Man," and the name conveys a true picture of the condition of the government, which is bankrupt financially, morally and politically. All its revenues, all its mines, all its lands, all its resources of every kind are mortgaged and remortgaged till, but for a selfish comity among nations, which are not willing to see it collapse, because they have not been able to agree among themselves as to a division of its territory, its securities would not be worth the paper they are written upon. It has no moral influence or political power with the nations of the earth, and is only kept on its feet with provisional props against the time when it may suit the purposes of the Christian nations to let it topple over. It would seem there might be a disposition to help the struggling Christian people of the European principalities, just now, by withdrawing some of the props; but that might interfere with the plans of the great powers, as it would strike off the map the best one-third of the coveted territory; and these Christian nations are looking out for themselves. If their selfishness do not forestall the efforts of the Christian Turks, the chances are that a new star will soon take its place in the galaxy of European states.

The settlement of the difficulty between the English and Chinese governments, mentioned a few days since in the dispatches, is made upon the basis that China undertakes to punish the parties guilty of the Margary murder. Mr. Margary was a British subject, employed by Anglo-Indian merchants to solicit Chinese trade, and while traveling in Western China for that purpose, was set upon and murdered, whereupon the British government made prompt demand for the punishment of the murderers, and there being some delay on the part of China in making a favorable answer, the demand was fortified by such further communications as made the head of the Celestial Empire dizzy with respect for the British crown.

It cannot be claimed that Western Oregon is a firstrate country for the raising of peaches. There are but few varieties that can be successfully grown here. But the Crawford peach, raised here, is superior in appearance and in flavor, according to our way of thinking, to any we get from California. And we are told by producers they are an unfailing crop. This in the Wallamet valley, while the Hood river country and Wasco county, both within convenient marketing distance, produce almost any variety in great profusion. Such peaches as reach Portland from the farm of Mr. W. P. Watson, of Hood river, will justify a challenge to any part of the world and New Jersey besides.

In the recent election in San Francisco the Independents elected the Assessor, City Attorney, County Attorney, Chief of Police, Coroner, Public Administrator, one Supervisor and one School Director. The Democrats got the rest of the offices.

The nomination of Gen. F. E. Spinner for the comptroller, by the Republicans of New York, is about the neatest rebuke the President has received from any authoritative body of his party.

CITY [illegible]

A SAD CASE.—Early last Saturday morning a strange woman was arrested at the postoffice who was found in a state of maudlin intoxication. She seemed to be a total stranger, destitute of friends or any person who took the slightest interest in her welfare. The woman was taken to the city jail and locked up. Along in the afternoon she became perfectly sober, and naturally enough desired to be liberated. As the prisoner was a stranger and of rather respectable appearance, it was at length determined to discharge her on the payment of $5. The woman went away, but was picked up on Saturday night, having been found by the officer lying on the sidewalk beastly drunk. Yesterday morning she was fined $10 and committed to jail for five days. Chief Lappeus learned, on inquiry, that the woman's name is Walker. She states she is a widow, her husband having died about two years ago. The worst feature of the case is that the wretched woman is the mother of two bright-looking, intelligent girls—one seven and the other ten years of age. It has been ascertained that Mrs. Walker is a hopeless and confirmed inebriate. On the way to Oregon she was imprisoned at Chicago, San Francisco, and Sacramento—in each instance for getting drunk. From San Francisco Mrs. Walker proceeded to Victoria, and thence to this city by way of the Sound. A subscription paper was found on her person, which was circulated during the time she was stopping in Victoria, and signed by several citizens who contributed small sums to relieve her destitution. The woman is at present in jail serving out her sentence. We understand that her little daughters are temporarily provided for by Rev. W. C. Chattin. Here is an opportunity for some of our organized charities to do a noble work. These children should be removed from the contamination, association and influence of a drunken mother, and provided with comfortable homes. Let the good work be done speedily.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.—Sunday afternoon, a boy aged about 11 years, named Thorpe, was shot in the left arm by the accidental discharge of a shot-gun. Thorpe, accompanied by a comrade, started out from his home in the immediate vicinity of Milwaukie to have a hunt. Both boys had guns, and after traveling together for some distance concluded to take different routes for a time. After separating nothing is known of Thorpe's movements. His companion reached the rendezvous mutually agreed upon, but finding that Thorpe failed to put in an appearance, started out to hunt for him. He did not have to search long for the missing comrade. Thorpe was found lying on the ground in a thick clump of undergrowth, insensible and bleeding profusely from an ugly wound inflicted on the left arm, just below the shoulder. The alarm was speedily given, Thorpe conveyed to his home, and medical aid summoned. Examination disclosed the fact that a charge of bird-shot had entered the limb at the point mentioned, mangling the flesh and bone shockingly. Little hope was entertained at first that the boy's life could be saved, with or without amputation. Drs. Kinney and Raffety visited the lad yesterday afternoon and made the unwelcome and discouraging discovery that mortification had already commenced its work. Amputation of the mangled limb was determined upon, as the only possible means of saving life. The operation was commenced not without great hesitation, as Thorpe had lost much blood and was suffering from great physical exhaustion occasioned by the shock. However, the limb was amputated as quickly as possible, although the boy came near dying under the operation. He was doing well at last accounts.

NOVELTY AT A SOCIABLE.—It has been left to the young people of the First Congregational Church, in this city, to introduce new features into that kind of entertainment known as a church sociable. Heretofore such gatherings have exhibited a similarity that has prevented any particular interest in them on the part of the general public, and has secured for them the support of the congregation concerned because they felt it a matter of duty to give it. The sociable at the Congregational church, to-night, will be found to possess features that will be found worthy of attention beyond the church limits. A restaurant will be opened in the basement, and meals will be provided a la carte and served a la Russe. The great attraction, however, will be the art gallery. The works of art lent and secured for the occasion will surprise everybody. They are remarkable for their variety and richness. Some of the oldest of the old masters have been secured, and the modern school is largely represented. The works are fully catalogued, and the catalogue is so arranged that it will be valuable as a memorial when the sociable is ended and the art gallery is broken up. The advertisement contains other details.

ARRESTED FOR HORSE-STEALING.—Last July a man named Webber, living in Wasco county, stole a horse, and eluding pursuit, managed to make his escape from that county. For a long time nothing was heard of the thief, and it was supposed he had fled the country for good. Sheriff Schutz, of Wasco county, ascertained a short time since that Webber was in Linn county and had been stopping at Albany. Immediately he telegraphed a warrant to the sheriff of that county, who forthwith nipped Webber and lodged him in jail. Last evening Mr. Schutz arrived here from the Dalles, as also did the officer and prisoner from Albany. Webber was lodged in the city jail, and to-morrow morning, in custody of Mr. Schutz, will be taken to the Dalles to stand trial.

STOCKS.—A gentleman who has just arrived here from San Francisco informs us that it is the intention of those who are directly interested in the Bank of California to resume business on the proposed new basis, about the 15th inst. Five days later it is the intention of the stock brokers, connected with the San Francisco and Pacific stock boards, to resume operations. It is confidently anticipated that stocks will be much higher than prior to the late panic. Our informant states that the outlook is quite encouraging, and inspires hope among the brokers. Large sums of money are being shipped from the east to be invested in stocks as soon as the boards shall resume operations.

NUPTIALS.—Quite a number of invited guests were assembled last evening in the parlor of the St. Charles Hotel, the occasion being the nuptials of Mr. Thomas T. Bradley and Miss Julia A. Minkler, both of this city. The marriage ceremony was solemnized by Rev. W. C. Chattin. Mrs. H. Y. Thompson presided at the piano, and accompanied, with her usual skill and taste, several songs, which were rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Chattin. Refreshments were passed around, toasts and short speeches were made by several, and a general good time experienced. On the important occasion Miss Lucy Hay acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Geo. Crawford as groomsman.

TIN WEDDING.—Last evening Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Henrichsen celebrated the tenth anniversary of their wedding day at their residence, Morrison and Lownsdale streets. During the evening quite a number of their friends called and left their compliments in the shape of tin ware worked into novel designs. Members of the Portland Turn Verein called and sang and played. Everybody seemed to be happy as they should under the circumstances.

RATE OF TAXATION.—The county court which was in session yesterday, have fixed the following rate of taxation for the present fiscal year: State tax, 5 mills; School tax, 3 mills; State Bounty tax, 1 mill; State Military Relief tax, ½ mill; County tax, 5 mills. Total, 14½ mills. State poll tax fixed at the usual rate, one dollar upon each and every person liable to pay the same under the law.

TAKES COMMAND.—Says the Astorian: Capt. Hubbard, long and favorably known as master and pilot on the Columbia river bar, will take command of the fine barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg, owned in this city by Capt. George Flavel, and at present employed in the trade with Honolulu. Capt. Brown, who has been in command for some time past, will remain in business in Portland.

IMPROVING.—We learned late last evening that the condition of Hugh Starr, who fell in a fit last Saturday night, is more hopeful. Although still speechless and unconscious, he has improved very materially, in that he is able to move himself about. It is the opinion of the attending physicians that he will recover.

BRIEF NOTES.

Beautiful weather.

Fish and game plentiful.

Steamer due this evening.

State circuit court will convene this morning at the usual hour.

State Medical Society will meet at the St. Charles hotel parlors at 1 P. M.

Carpenters are busily engaged in putting on the roof of the new Turners' hall.

A new cover is being laid for the cistern at the intersection of Oak and First streets.

The old hulk of the ferryboat Portland was burned on the shore opposite the city yesterday.

The burning of the Nicolson pavement creates an unpleasant smell in many back yards.

Six county prisoners were committed to Sheriff Jeffrey by the police authorities yesterday afternoon.

John F. Caples, Esq., has recently been elected superintendent of the Hall Street M. E. Sunday School.

On Thursday of the present week the conference camp-meeting will commence at the grounds near Canby.

City Marshal Neale, of East Portland, has a pet now. He has plenty of time to "tote" his left arm in a sling.

The ship City of York was towed down the river yesterday by the Annie Stewart, having partially completed her cargo of grain.

The handsome and rapid steamer Bonita, having been thoroughly repaired, took the regular Portland-Astoria line yesterday morning.

One of the sections of the terra cotta pipe at the foot of Stark street has been broken by some accident. It should be repaired without delay.

The intersection of First and Oak streets presents a busy scene. About a dozen men are engaged in tearing up old and laying new Nicholson pavement.

Mr. C. P. Yates, a young gentleman well-known in Portland, will start this morning for Astoria, where he expects to remain during the fall and winter months.

Mr. Corcoran, who was connected with the police force of the city for several years, took his departure last evening for Victoria, where he will probably remain permanently.

No one, however chronic grumbler he may be, can frame a reasonable pretext for complaining of the weather. Perfectly splendid, say all the ladies, and they certainly ought to know.

It would be a good idea for every person to obtain a card on which is printed the location of the various fire alarm boxes, and post it up in some conspicuous place. Much trouble and confusion would be avoided.

The brig Orient has been sold at public auction on account of underwriters. Mr. J. Kruse, of Coos Bay, was the purchaser. We understand that he will make another effort to get the vessel and repair her.

Harry Edwards, the actor, presented on Thursday last the "Lotta Fountain" in behalf of the fair donor, to the city of San Francisco. The fountain cost, when completed, about $9,000, so it must be an elaborate affair.

Mrs. Amery Holbrook's numerous friends in Portland and elsewhere will regret to learn that that most estimable lady intends soon to depart for the east to permanently reside. Her future home will be in Pennsylvania.

We call the attention of the street commissioner to the condition of the plank roadway at the intersection of Fourth and Stark streets. There is a hole caused by the plank giving way which is dangerous. Let it be fixed before an accident occurs.

The South Portland sawmill has commenced operations. Observe card of the proprietors in another column.

The firm of Johnson & Spaulding has been dissolved, Mr. W. W. Spaulding retiring. Observe notice elsewhere.

Mr. Chas. Fishel, of the well-known clothing house of Fishel & Roberts, arrived overland on Saturday evening. During his absence in San Francisco, he purchased a large stock of new and stylish goods for the fall trade. Every one connected with the sales department was engaged yesterday in arranging the new goods just opened in proper places. We observed some elegant styles in the late importations, and among the piece goods very fine cloths, which the firm will have cut to order agreeable to the choice of their customers. Notwithstanding the dullness of the season, Fishel & Roberts seem to be fully prepared to supply the entire state at short notice. They will receive another invoice of goods on the incoming steamer. Be sure and call on them. They advertise.

The new goods are arriving and being displayed to the admiring gaze of hundreds, at Beck & Waldman's. No damaged goods; all firstclass and low prices. Parents will always find the latest styles in youths' clothing.

The office and warerooms of the Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Company have been removed to their new building, First and Yamhill streets.

Mr. JOS. KOHN has gone to San Francisco for the purpose of purchasing new goods for the fall and winter trade. At his new and elegant Establishment, First and Morrison streets, he makes a grand display of clothing, furnishing goods, etc. Mr. Kohn knows exactly what his customers want and he has very sensibly filled his shelves with such goods as are sure to meet with satisfaction and the prices too are figured down to suit the times. In a few days he will make new announcements.

Caution!—In our changeable climate, coughs, colds, and diseases of the throat, lungs and chest will always prevail. Cruel consumption will claim its victims. These diseases if attended to in time, can be arrested and cured. The remedy is DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

David Miles, drunk; fined $5; paid.

Nat. Miller, drunk; fined $5; paid and discharged.

Mrs. Walker, found drunk on the streets, fined $10, and failing to pay, committed for five days.

Harry Hastings was accused of two offenses—one drunkenness and the other vagrancy. On the first charge he got 15 days, and the second 20.

A man named Lewis Young, was arrested yesterday afternoon accused of assaulting Mrs. Eliza Bonits and husband. Young will be judicially interviewed this morning.

H. Nathan was arraigned on the charge of committing an assault on a man named Kafka. He was found guilty and fined $30 by the court. Fine and costs amounted to the neat little sum of $52 90, which defendant paid and was discharged.

The case of Wright, alias Edwin Burk, was called up for preliminary examination. Defendant was charged with the larceny of a pair of blankets from the New York saloon. He was held to answer the charge before the grand jury in the sum of $500. In default of the necessary bonds Wright was committed to the county jail.

Ah Lee had an altercation yesterday afternoon with a countryman named Hoong Chin, and drew a long knife with which he was engaged in cutting some fish at the time, and "made for" his adversary with murderous intent. Before he could inflict any bodily injury, Ah Lee's hand was stayed. Soon after a warrant was sworn out, and the irate Celestial arrested, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. This morning the case will be investigated.

On the charge of grand larceny, the four boys—Willie Reynard, John Dougherty, Chas. Carroll, and George Cornal—implicated in the robbery of the drawer at Rumelin & Gutmann's store on Saturday night, were arraigned. After a preliminary hearing of the case, the court held each of the defendants to answer the charge in the sum of $200. Not being able to furnish the required bail, these youthful offenders were committed to the charge of Sheriff Jeffery until the meeting of the grand jury.

THE GALLANTRY OF CALIFORNIANS.—A notable incident on election day, deserves narration, as indicating the inborn decency and natural gallantry of our cosmopolitan population when duly sober. On Wednesday last Mrs. Emily Pitts Stevens, in company with Mrs. L. M. Wilson and Mrs. Marion Hill, all candidates for the position of school director, appeared at every precinct in the county, except the Ocean House, in an open barouche and were everywhere treated with respect. No cry of "Women's Righters," or "Strong-minded women," or any word offensive to the sensibilities of the most refined members of the weaker sex was uttered. On the contrary they were in several instances greeted with cheers, as female candidates for school directors. This tends to show the progress of public opinion in the new direction. Thousands of men who are opposed to the appearance of women at the polls; sanctioned by the law of the land as voters, are perfectly willing that they shall be chosen, if they will act with proper modesty, to be occupants of positions in which they may control the education of the young and rising generation.

In some of the interior counties of the state it is probable that women have been chosen as superintendents of public schools. It is more difficult in large cities to make such an inroad upon the life-long prejudices of the aforetime; but we are inclined to believe that the day is not far distant when intelligent women will be selected to supervise the school department, generally, and the education of the juveniles of both sexes up to a certain age, when the male portion of the pupils, having overgrown feminine control, may be remitted to the management of sterner task-masters.—Examiner.

For an after-dinner cigar go to O'Brien's, where you can get the best.

At the Central Market they are providing the hungry with the best—Fabre & Barnes.

PERSONAL.—Mr. M. Rosenblatt, of 79 Front street, returned last evening on the John L. Stephens, from San Francisco, with a large stock of Clothing, etc., for gentlemen and youths. His stock is worthy of inspection by all who desire a first class article. Be sure and call on him, and recollect the number.

BECK & WALDMAN have added largely to their stock of Clothing during the past week. Mr. Beck has selected many new and attractive styles and forwarded the first purchases, which are really the best to be seen in Portland. The variety of styles for youths are numerous, and no parent should fail to examine the arrivals. Take your boy and have him fitted. The firm have an immense stock for the fall and winter and offer special inducements to all.

A LIFE ROMANCE.

RECOVERY BY THE PARENTS OF A DAUGHTER STOLEN TWENTY YEARS AGO.

A correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel, writing from Durand, Wisconsin, under date August 21, gives an interesting account of an incident which lately occurred there. He says: On the 17th of July, 1854, Mr. Timothy Stokin, now of this place, had a little girl eighteen months old stolen from him. He was then living at Merton, Waukesha county. Mrs. Stokin was in the garden at the time picking cucumbers, leaving the child in the house with other children. Her husband was some eighteen miles away from home. When Mrs. Stokin returned to the house she asked where little Emma was, and the children answered "out on the flower-bed." She called her, but received no answer, and never saw the child again until night before last, when Mr. Stokin returned with a lady from Red Cedar Falls, Dunn county. This proved to be the child who was stolen twenty years one month and two days before. The girl had been teaching school during the summer at Red River Falls. The history of the loss of the child and her subsequent movements is interesting.

After the child disappeared the father aroused the neighborhood and a long search was made. He firmly believed the child had been abducted, and left no stone unturned to find her. He tracked two men to Ripon under the belief that they had the child, and there he lost track of them. The father and his son entered the army, the son was killed, the father returned alone, and the family removed to Durand, where they have lived for ten years.

Of the adventures of the child nothing is known up to her sixth year. She remembers that at that age she was living in St. Louis with a woman whom she regarded as her mother; that she had been stolen, and that she (the woman) had been paid to keep her. The woman did not die, and the girl remained with her in St. Louis until she was eleven years old. At that time Capt. L. D. Bartlett, of Hudson, Wisconsin, captain of the steamer Viola, was in St. Louis with his wife. Mrs. Bartlett met the girl, liked her, and made arrangements with the woman by which the girl passed into the hands of the Bartletts and came to Wisconsin to live. About a year ago Capt. Bartlett removed to Indiana, and Fanny Johnson, as the girl was known, took charge of the school in Dunn county, as mentioned above.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Nasby, of this place, visited Cedar Falls and became acquainted with Emma. She was immediately struck with the resemblance of the girl to the Stokin family, and knowing the story of the lost child, concluded that this might be her. She acquainted the Stokin family with her belief, and Mr. Stokin at once visited the girl, and after interviewing her felt assured that she was his daughter. He persuaded her to accompany him home, and they reached here Thursday night. The meeting between mother and daughter was affecting, and so deep were the mother's feelings that she swooned away on seeing her long lost child. All doubt of the identity of the child is removed. The young lady has been well educated, and is a very interesting person. She has been well cared for, and especially during her residence in Hudson, where she was universally liked. Her parents are in moderate circumstances, but are honest and industrious people, and have the highest respect of the entire community.

It seems that a year or so ago the girl received information from St. Louis that her parents had been discovered, and was urged to visit St. Louis, but her Hartford friends advised her to wait until references given were found to be genuine. As no clue to the parties advising her return to St. Louis could be found, it was concluded that it was an effort on the part of some questionable person to get possession of the young lady, and she remained at Hudson.

Mr. Stokin, the father, has this theory in regard to the abduction. A man named Chas. Taylor was a suitor for the hand of Mrs. Stokin. Her marriage filled him with rage and he vowed revenge. He followed them from Ohio to Wisconsin and stole the child.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Good dog! come rest thy muzzle on my knee
Thy steadfast love is all that's left for me
Thou art a friend indeed
Forever true God knows my bitter need!

Thou art so honest in thy gravity—
No dimpling smiles and laughing nods from thee
By heaven! it makes me wild
To think how fair her face was when she smiled!

Can I forget the sweetness of that mouth—
Sweeter than roses from the roseate South
Her low clear voice to me
Was like soft music heard by night at sea

Dost thou remember Pluto how one day
She took thy shaggy paw with banter gay?
Her charms thou didst not see
Her beauty had no skill to madden thee

But I—Oh Pluto how I loved the girl!
Her soft brown hair and every little curl,
And bright for all my tears—
A face to wonder at through weary years

Pluto my friend, thou lookest up to me
With blinking eyes, but full of sympathy
Dumb loyal loving brave
I know thou will be faithful to the grave.

Had she been faithful—ah, the very thought
But deepens all the misery she has wrought,
And darkens my despair
It was a cruel God made her so fair!

Is speech denied thee Pluto? Better so
For thou mightst learn to lie In accents low
She said she loved me well—
Such lies they whisper each to each in hell

Come let us go and leave this grief behind
Somewhere a little peace we yet may find
Alas and yet alas!
I know the maddening vision will not pass
—Peleg Arkwright in N Y Graphic

A MECHANICAL TRIUMPH

MOVING A LOFTY FOURTEEN INCH WALL WITHOUT DISTURBING A BRICK

A careful survey that was recently made showed that the west wall of the brick building, 114 West Twenty fourth street, encroached eighteen inches upon the neighboring lot. The land trespassed upon is owned by the Catholic society St Vincent de Paul, and is a part of a wide piece of property extending through from Twenty third to Twenty fourth street On the Twenty-third street front the church of the society stands, and it is proposed to erect on Twenty fourth street a pastoral residence and a school house To accommodate these buildings the society need every inch of their land, and they therefore bade Mr Mott the owner of the encroaching building, to remove his wall The wall is sixty-five feet in height, sixty feet in length, and of an average thickness of fourteen inches, and the ordinary method of tearing down and building a new wall would have entailed heavy expenses and much time The building was being used as a livery stable, and Mr Mott was unwilling to vacate the premises for so long a time as he was told would be necessary The builders whom he consulted, Weeks & Brothers, urged him, however, to allow them to attempt to move the wall bodily, and with his consent they finished the undertaking yesterday morning They had previously severed the connection of the west wall with the north and south walls, and had taken from the last two about two feet of brick and mortar They also had sawed off from the floor timbers lengths of eighteen inches and had sharpened the new ends of the timbers so that they might fit into the old beam holes in the moving up of the wall Then, at a height of about four feet above the foundation stones Mr. Weeks had pierced the wall at intervals of six feet, and had inserted in each hole so made a double set of heavy needle beams The lower beam of each set had been firmly imbedded in earthwork, and the upper beam, upon which the weight of the building was to rest, was much shorter than the lower, but otherwise it corresponded in size, and the two lay with their [illegible] in the same plane The horizontal faces which were brought in contact were planed smooth and greased Then the brick work supporting the wall had been taken away, and the weight of the whole structure rested on the needle beams. Yesterday morning at half-past five o'clock large screwjacks were lashed to the upper sides of the lower beams, so that the end of each screw pressed against the end of an upper beam in such a way that the jacks when operated made the beams, with the whole wall on top of them, slide along the greased surface of the lower beams There were ten of these screwjacks, and a man stood at each one with a lever in his hand At a signal given by Mr Goodwin, who superintended the work, the ten men with their levers worked their jacks in unison, so that no part of the wall should be pushed forward more rapidly than another The greatest nicety was demanded for the great wall, more than sixty feet square was balanced on an edge only sixteen inches wide, and a jar, however slight, would have turned it over to bury the men working at its base It is the first time that the moving of a detached wall has been attempted in such a way, and a number of distinguished builders and officials of the Building Department attended. The work was slowly and carefully done Several times the jacks were stopped, and the lines were dropped from the summit to the base, only to show that the walls remained plumb, and delicate measurements were taken to retain the face of the wall true It was nearly ten o'clock when the work was finished, and then the wall stood exactly upon the line marked by the surveyors, and the floor timbers rested in the old beam holes. Nothing remains to be done but to close the narrow gaps at the corners of the building, and to build a new foundation under the wall The weight of the wall exceeds two hundred and seventy tons —N Y Sun.

A MISSIONARY AT SEA

We were in the Gulf Stream, knocking about in a pretty rough sea The effect on a missionary's stomach was the same as that upon the stomach of all landsmen I remember one morning when the decks were in a very disagreeable condition in consequence After repeatedly cleansing them, the patience of old Pease, the first mate, was exhausted. He accordingly wrote with a piece of chalk on the companion way

"Passengers feeling sea sick will please go to leeward"

Soon Brother Bradley emerged from the cabin with a rising breakfast The notice caught his eye, but not understanding its significance he staggered about for a moment, and then gave occasion for another application of the swab to the decks This done he looked meekly into the face of old Pease, who was regarding him with a mingled expression of pity and contempt

"I noticed the direction," blandly observed the divine, "but I am not aware what leeward means"

"Why, it means the lee side of the ship of course," replied the second mate

"And which is the lee side?

"Which is the lee side? Well its t'other side of the weather side"

"And which is the weather side?"

"The weather side! Sometimes it's the starboard and sometimes it's the larboard (for the term larboard was then in use) It's the starboard, now we are on this tack"

"Really," said Brother Bradley, "you must excuse me I don't understand these curious terms. What's a starboard? What's larboard? What's a tack?"

Placing his arms a-kimbo, while the tottering missionary steadied himself by the belaying pin, Pease regarded him for a moment as an object beneath the pity or contempt that he had at first bestowed upon him, and then with an expletive earnestness, he exclaimed

"Now ain't you a pretty fellow for a missionary? Going to convert the heathen and don't know two sides of a ship twenty feet apart! You'd better go home in the first vessel we speak, and make two or three coasting voyages, and then try it again perhaps you'll learn something

Although we do not claim that the Elm[illegible] collar will wash we do claim that it will keep clean longer than any other

Gold Bars 750 par

The local money market shows no actual scarcity of funds as some might infer from the fact that the banks are very careful in making loans and are using all possible precautions to keep their means within reach and supply the wants of the trade at the same time No important branch of business in our state has suffered materially so far by the recent withdrawal of large amounts of capital from the ordinary channels in San Francisco on account of the difficulties attending the failure of the Bank of California San Francisco is already reported to have almost entirely recovered from the effects of the disaster while our local market to which no prior crash ever came so near moves along as quietly as if nothing of the kind had occurred The most perceptible impression made on the trade of Oregon seems to have been in retarding the movement in the wheat crop but there have been no very exciting causes to produce an active movement and no good reason to believe that the volume of purchases or shipments would have been much larger to date than they have had all moved along in financial circles without the late great disturbance The bulk of capital to move our surplus breadstuffs usually comes from sources which are not in such relations as to be unsettled by any crash of the kind mentioned and where holders and exporters can agree as to the prices which ought to prevail there will be no difficulty about the necessary funds to carry on the business and the grain movement will be large and brisk.

Latest advices from the East indicate that merchants on the Atlantic seaboard are somewhat elated over the prospects of the fall and winter trade and that the reports of suspensions and failures will not continue to constitute a large proportion of the current news of the day for a few months to come It is, however reported by mail dates of the 2d inst that Chicago St Louis and other Western cities are experiencing dull times for the season and money becoming much scarcer than was noted a few months ago The most noticeable features in business affairs in the West is the reduced prices in the grain market, which is due entirely to the continuance of favorable weather for the maturing of the corn crop and the belief that the receipts of wheat from Minnesota and Iowa will soon be increased. It must, however be remembered that the harvest this year was later than usual everywhere and that the continued rains of Iowa and Minnesota may delay the threshing and that withal will tend to strengthen the belief that our surplus will fall enough short to produce a good demand throughout the season and at points where strong competition prevails among buyers keep prices up to a remunerative figure

The Wheat Market.

The business under this head is not brisk as buyers and holders are not able to meet each other satisfactorily The advices by telegraph from Europe received to-day indicate another decline in the Liverpool market and though no quotations were cabled the reduction would bring prices down to 10s 7d@10s 11d for average and 11s@11s 5d for club Although transactions are scarce for the present the leading exporters offer only $1 [illegible] and appear to be rather indifferent purchasers even at that figure. The San Francisco markets are also quoted duller and $2 per cental is offered as the current rates for good shipping Our latest advices from the principal wheat growing sections report a great rush of work among the farmers who are making the most of the present fine weather in closing up the harvest which will be over in a few days when we may anticipate more inquiry into the condition of the market on their part and an increased disposition to sell at least a portion of their [illegible] At present there are but few of them attending on this market and nearly all purchases made are by the agents of exporters at interior points There are now loading or awaiting orders here or in the river seven large vessels one of which is nearly loaded two receiving cargoes three reported engaged and two for charter so that the dullness in the movement is not to be accounted for on the ground of a lack of tonnage. There are also three other large vessels about due from San Francisco The Berar and City of Amoy now loading at this port will have quick dispatch their cargoes being nearly all in sight.

Clayton editor of The South, was spokesman, and Thos Whitehead editor of the Amherst Enterprise, and president of the association spoke for the people of Virginia, expressing the feelings of friendship and good will which now attracted the people of the South toward the people of the North At the end of the brief addresses the party retired to the mayor s private parlor where they were entertained In the evening the Virginians escorted by other officials attended Barney Williams performance and to day visit the public institutions.

Pixley on the Directors of the Bank of California.

NEW YORK Sept. 14 —Pixley at a meeting last night attacked the directors of the Bank of California and denied there was any defalcation He said the directors lost their heads, acted like a set of school girls in a fire and passed a resolution which broke Ralston s heart.

Good for Medill.

NEW YORK Sept. 14 —Medill the veteran editor of the Chicago Tribune in Saturday's paper, rebukes Wednesday night s San Francisco meeting for going beyond its tribute to the dead. "It says the meeting took a leaf from the Central Pacific, and tried to destroy two newspapers, mediums of public opinion the sentiments of which did not agree with its own. This is not fair play. Taking refuge behind a dead man to assail a living one has never been counted the extreme of gallantry The article adds that criticism or personal assaults by the press cannot be successfully combatted by mob resolutions. The way to meet them is to disprove them

Other Expressions on the Right Side.

NEW YORK Sept. 14.—A Tribune special denounces the attempt to vindicate Ralston by endeavoring to injure the Call and Bulletin. Their position has been attained by that very cause for which they are now abused and their annihilation need not be immediately predicted The Boston Advertiser and various other well known Eastern journals take the same view of the indiscreet abuse of Independent newspapers by that meeting

Another Frightful Accident.

About half past 10 this morning while experiments were making with Udah s patent aerial ladder in Rutger s square an appalling accident occurred which resulted in the death of at least three men and probably two or three others. It appears that as soon as the ladder had been put together and placed in position in the center of the square the chief mounted to the top followed by eight or ten of his men, ranged in various points along the ladder The ladder looked to be nearly 100 feet in hight. The men had not been on the ladder more than a minute when it swayed backward and forward and suddenly snapped in two The men were instantly precipitated to the ground three of them being killed outright, and as many more dangerously hurt if not fatally The bodies were immediately removed on trucks. The chief was among the killed.

Later information says it was William H. Walsh chief of battalion and not the chief engineer who was killed and the others killed outright by the fall were Philip Morse and William Hughes. The Aerial Ladder Company had been ordered out for practice and while the men were going through their evolutions the accident occurred.

The Election in Maine.

BOSTON Sept. 14.—Additional returns from Maine this morning are meagre. In Cumberland county, which was hotly contested and where the Democrats had one senator and the county treasurer last year they have made a complete sweep Sagadahock county gives Connor a majority of 459 with Democratic gains in several towns Waldo county complete except Jackson gives Roberts (Dem) 75 majority and elects Democratic county officers, one senator and four representatives. Nothing definite is known of the congressional contest in the fourth district though Plaisted is doubtless elected Connor s majority will not reach 5 000 It is conceded by Republican papers that nine constitutional amendments have probably been adopted

AUGUSTA Me Sept 14.—Official returns from 264 towns give Connor 3 000 majority The Democrats have elected 13 and perhaps 14 senators, the Republicans probably 1.

Moulton Refuses to Consent to a Nolle Prosequi in the Libel Suit.

NEW YORK Sept. 14.—District Attorney Britton of Brooklyn addressed letters to Henry Ward Beecher and Francis D Moulton suggesting that public interests would be best served by entering a nolle prosequi in the case of Beecher against Moulton for libel Beecher in reply concurs. Moulton says he cannot acquiesce in the action proposed, and concludes his letter as follows

"I am indicted for libel in charging Rev Henry Ward Beecher with criminal intercourse with female members of his congregation The charge is true He knows it to be true and whatever the imperfections of man s tribunals the Supreme Ruler will some day reveal the truth and vindicate the right for speaking the truth and that, too under challenge and in defense of my own character and the character of her whose good name is dearer to me than life itself. I have been arraigned as a criminal and compelled like a felon to plead with uplifted hand subjected to the ignominy of bonds against an escape from justice, loaded with obloquy by the public press, frowned upon and avoided by society and now after the indictment against me has served its purpose by discrediting in advance the witness of Rev Mr Beecher's guilt and it is apparent to you as it is to the world that I am innocent and must be acquitted at this moment and under these circumstances I am requested to acquiesce in a nolle prosequi and to suffer my accuser to escape the penalty of his perjured persecutions Never sir never I demand a trial and shall be ready on any reasonable notice to make good my defense Very respectfully

Alabama's Debt.

MONTGOMERY Sept 14 —The committee on finance and taxation made a report to the constitutional convention to-day They say the financial condition of the state is absolutely appalling, and that full payment of the state debt is impossible but they believe a commissioner appointed to adjust the public debt will by a plan of rigid economy so reduce the debt that the state will be able to pay interest on the same at an early day
